

The education department of the Formentera Council announces the publication from Friday of admission information and waiting lists for the island's two escoletes, or “nursery schools”.

For the 2018-2019 academic year, which starts Monday September 17, 60 of 67 families who applied received an affirmative response. As for those households on the waiting list, four have children in the nadó, or “newborn”, age group (for babies born in 2018) and another three are included in the group for one- and two-year-olds (born in 2017). There is no waiting list for children aged two to three and some vacancies still remain.

Enrolment

Families can finalise enrolment from today, Friday June 15 to Thursday June 21, from 4.00pm to 6.00pm in Escoleta Sa Miranda. Release of the final waiting list will follow the close of enrolment.

Characteristics

This school year, Escoleta Sa Miranda consists of seven classrooms—one for newborns and three each for one- to two-year-olds and two- to three-year-olds.

With capacity for 30 students, Escoleta Camí Vell has just two classrooms; one for the one- to two-year-old group and another for the two- to three-year-old group.

A total of 16 instructors form the teaching staff of both centres. They are joined by an educational aide, a director, a cook and a kitchen assistant.

Working strategies are identical at the two escoletes and activities are organised jointly in weekly meetings attended by both Sa Miranda and Camí Vell teachers. The two schools share cooking staff.
