Formentera's chamber of commerce has announced that from February to April it will host 13 courses with support from the Formentera Council, which will pick up a quarter of the cost as per the terms of a €7,000 partnership deal.

The catalogue runs the gamut from Italian classes to training in everything from new tech, taxes, accounting, leadership, staff selection, hotel management and workplace risk reduction.

Tourism and trade councillor Alejandra Ferrer praised the heads of the chamber for their efforts putting together the programming, which she called “crucial to filling out our selection of continuing education opportunities in the winter”.
