

The Formentera Department of Social Welfare is pleased to announce it has received material to be distributed among young participants of the island’s summer camps (escoles d’estiu). T-shirts, bottles, backpacks and badges have been emblazoned with the campaign’s graphics. A banner was also commissioned and has already been hung at sporting events. Young islanders’ role has been essential: they designed the graphics and the slogan, plus they had a hand distributing posters to businesses and will continue to conduct similar outreach during the coming school year and at other events.
