

Performing arts troupe As Marias is gearing up to present Formentera audiences with a tragicomedy which scored praise in 2016 from Art Jove, a youth arts competition. Las 2 en punto tells the story of a duo of famed anarchist women from Santiago de Compostela who, having felt the sting of abuses of power, emerge as zany yet charismatic. The loony world they occupy, entirely of their own design, will serve as a space for revolution and conviction.

This fun, politically-charged production presents audiences with a message of political engagement and pays a tribute not just to the two sisters, but to “everyone using struggle to make freedom possible for future generations”.

Production company

Many years spent working together led Lluï Portas and Lucía Sánchez to the conclusion that the best outlet for their efforts was a shared production company. The result, As Marias, is driven by creativity, imagination and new audience experiences.

The production hits Formentera's Sala de Cultura (cinema) this Saturday October 27 at 8.30pm. Tickets, which cost five euros, can be obtained the day of the function at the box office.

The show comes to Formentera as part of Institut d'Estudis Baleàrics' TalentIB initiative. The IEB is a division of the Govern balear.
