

This weekend the island will welcome participants in the second Undersea Photo Hunters' Freedive (Open Cazafotosub Apnea). Presented by underwater activity organisers Sota s'Aigu, the event will happen with support from the local offices of tourism and sports. Some twenty photo fans from the Canary Islands, Balearics and Valencian Community are currently signed up, with dives in local waters scheduled from 30 April to 2 May to offer participants the chance to snap shots of as many different kinds of fish as they can.
