

The Formentera Department of Culture reports that www.entradesformentera.cat , a online ticket sales hub, went online earlier today. Islanders can visit the site to purchase tickets for stage performances, cultural events and cinema sessions scheduled from Friday 23 April at the Sala de Cultura-Cinema.

Culture chair Susana Labrador explained, “This weekend, as in the past, film fans can get their movie tickets at the box office thirty minutes before the show. Next weekend, online ticket sales will also be possible. We’re embracing new technologies and offering this resource to respond to growing attendance at cultural programming”.

The website will also simplify the task of organising bookings for theatrical productions, Labrador said, pointing out that Covid-19 restrictions have required capacity at such events to be limited. Face-to-face service at the box office will continue until events are sold out.

Entradesformentera.cat
State of the art and intuitive, the Entrades Formentera site allows islanders to get their entrades , or tickets, quickly and easily. In a step forward for the environment, the paperless option lets cinemagoers enter the cinema by presenting a QR code figuring on digital tickets. The portal also gives up-to-date details about current films and other featured events, not to mention special offers and a wide range of other information.

Islanders can also reach the portal from the agendaformentera.cat website, which also underwent renovation earlier this year. According to Labrador, Entrades Formentera, the link from the Agenda Formentera website and the new weekly bulletin highlighting the island’s cultural programming all boil down to “making accessing Formentera’s cultural scene quick and easy”.
