Today the Formentera Office of Culture presented the new winter schedule at Marià Villangómez library and the reopening of the Sant Ferran Reading Spot (Punt de Lectura).

Monday 12 September, as the school year gets under way, Marià Villangómez library will begin its new winter schedule. This school year, the library will open Monday to Friday mornings 9.30am to 1.00pm and afternoons 4.00pm to 7.30pm. The new hours mark an extension of last year's timetable, which didn't included Friday afternoon/evening.

The expanded hours can be traced to a plenary agreement in which the Consell undertook to study urgently offering service Marià Villangómez library on Friday afternoons and Saturday mornings in response to public demand. "We have retooled staff schedules to open Friday afternoons", explained Susana Labrador, councillor of education and culture. "The current situation does not allow for service on Saturday mornings, but as soon as possible we will implement it."

The Punt de Lectura will also reopen 12 September with its usual schedule: Monday to Friday, 4.30pm to 7.00pm.

Services

Marià Villangómez library offers check-outs, bibliographic information, photocopies and technical assistance at the computer lab. Seven computers are available for consultation, work and study and one computer is available exclusively for consultation. The study room has also been expanded. It is now equipped with 24 seats for study and personal computer use. Three reading areas have been set up as well.

The children's room is open during the same hours and contains material for reading and entertainment.

The Punt de Lectura offers check-outs, bibliographic information, three computers for visitors, and study stations for adults and children. The Punt de Lectura is located in Sant Ferran's Espai Cultural.

Activities
Both Marià Villangómez library and the Punt de Lectura regularly programme recreational, educational and cultural activities for adults and children. They also host writing and photography courses, book presentations, and more.
