The Office of Culture of the Consell de Formentera is pleased to report that from 8.30pm, Wednesday 1 March, in commemoration of Balearic Islands Day (Dia de les Illes Balears), Barcelona-born playwright Catalina Florit will direct Menorcan actor Àlvar Triay in Nomeolvides. This play is geared towards adult audiences.

The story starts with a nephew remembering an uncle who died some years ago. In tribute, he embarks on a journey of his relative's life and, without realising it, becomes the object of a story in which lightness and darkness are two partners in a dance during life's most complicated moments.

Partially autobiographical, the piece was written by Triay during lockdown. He built it upon proposals put forward by Catalina Florit and interviews in his town to suss out opinions about him and his uncle. At the heart of the story are hidden stories and secrets, the kind that the family keeps quiet but that small towns keep alive.

Tickets are available now at www.entradesformentera.cat for €7. Unemployed people, under-employed freelancers, retirees, under-25s, people with functional diversity, single-parent families and large families pay half price.
